Memories Linger in Western Towns

The southwestern states provide some of the more beautiful scenery in the U.S. There are mountains, deserts, lakes and snow. The climate ranges from very hot to very cold, depending on the area. Not only is there natural scenery, but there are many historical sights. The Grand Canyon, Old Faithful and the Rockies are known worldwide. Arizona offers mining towns, some still inhabited and some not. The Southwest was the sight of the Gold Rush of 1849, the Conestoga wagons, the Comstock Lode and the Battle of Little Big Horn. All in all, the West was, and still is a very "wild" place to live.

The Southwest offers countless views of rugged, yet gentle western scenery.

3. The rustic, western look lives on at Pinnacle peak.
4. Covered wagons were a sole means of transportation for a prairie town family.
5. A panorama of the Grand Canyon is photographed from Mathers Point.
6. Winter can prove to be a beautiful sight in the four-corners region.
7. Quaking Aspens prosper in a Sedona autumn.
8. Jerome, although now a ghost town, was once an Arizona mining landmark.

Numerous activities were planned for the beginning of the school year. Pom and Cheer put on their traditional Freshmen Mixer dance.

The cafeteria introduced their snack bar last spring. The soft drink bar proved a success with its return this year.

In October, Saguaro held open house night. The night began with a welcoming in the auditorium. The parents then proceeded to their children's rooms.

First Weeks of School Filled With Activities

Assemblies Alter Everyday Routine

Assemblies gave students a break from the everyday routine of class schedules

Through skits and dances, students tried to raise spirit among the audience for the athletic teams

In addition to clubs and individual participants, the band also contributed greatly to the assemblies. The band provided background music for the pom and cheer routines

The assemblies were a pleasant relief from a week of classes

A WORLD OF DISNEY

Mon — Nov 5

Tue. — Nov. 6

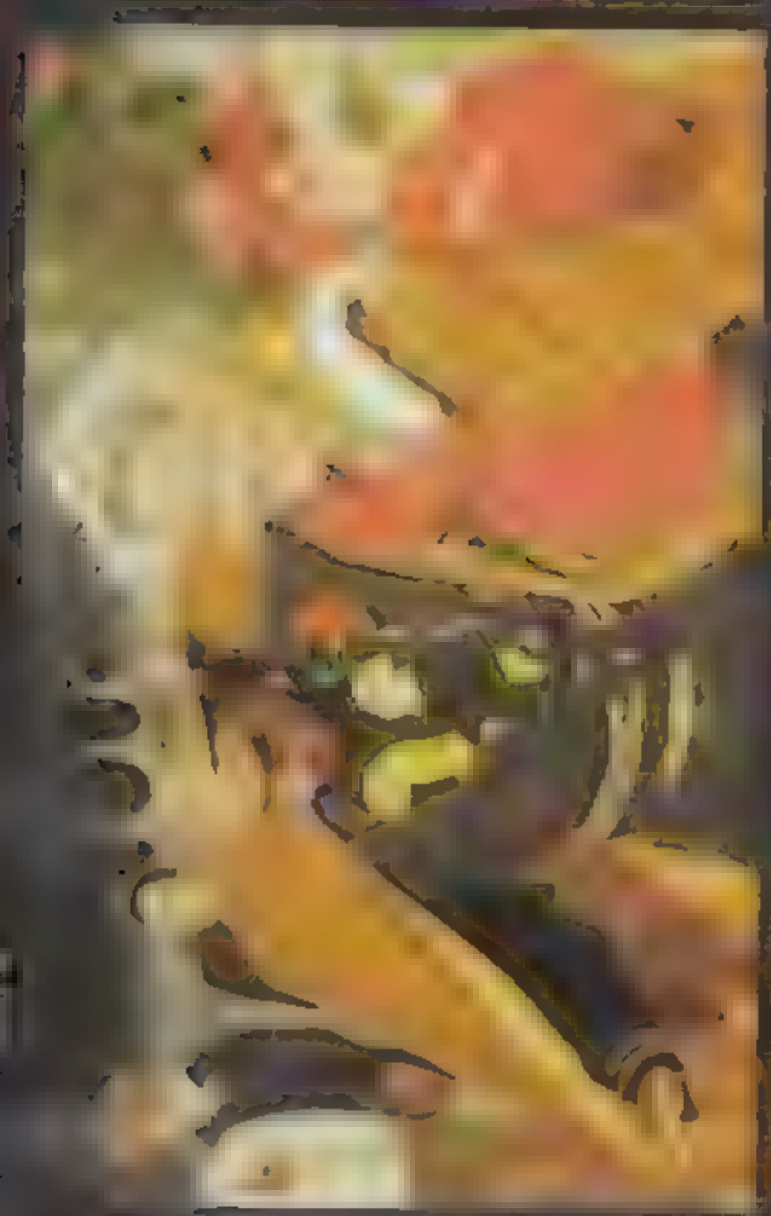

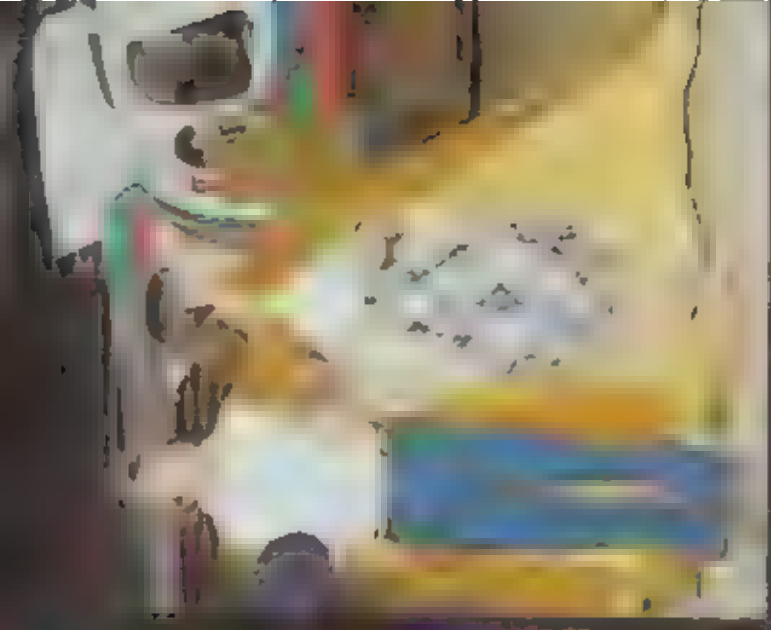

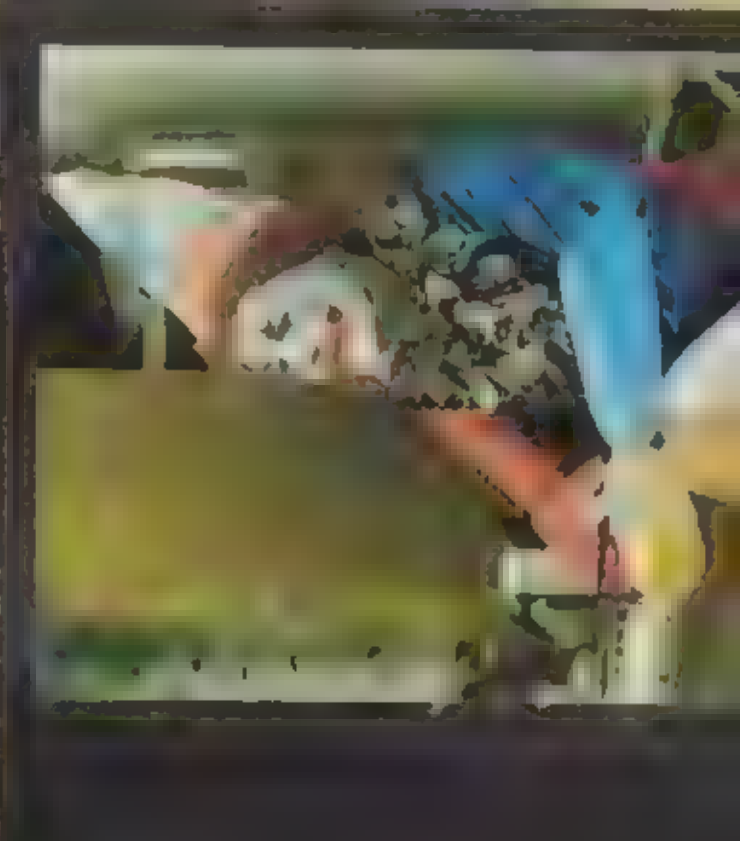

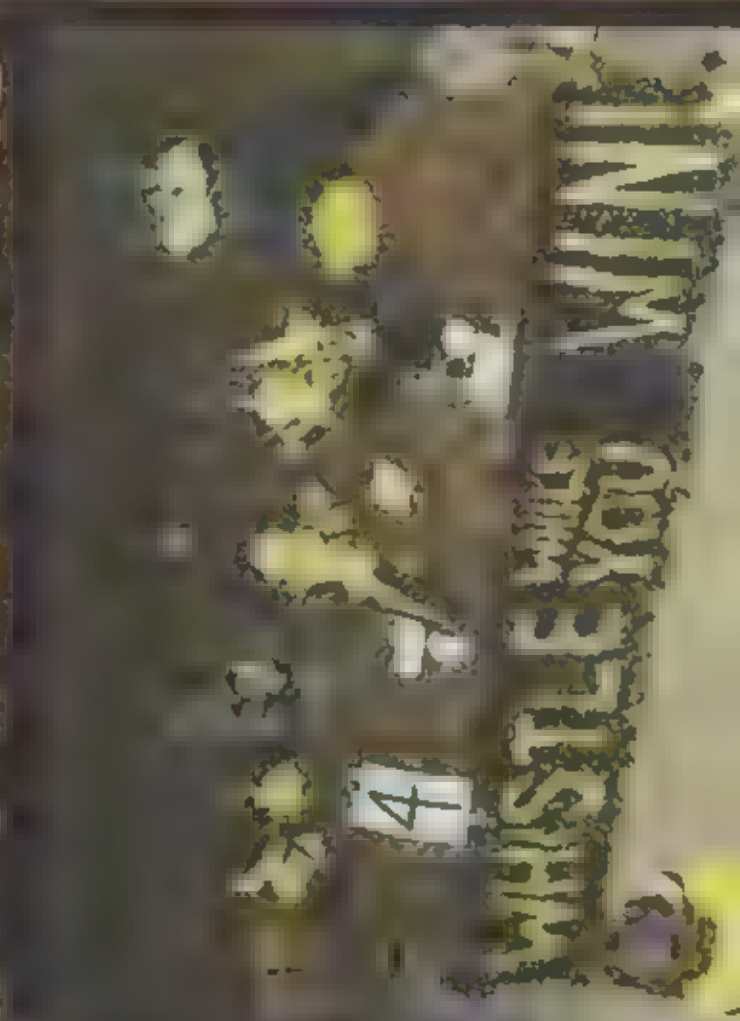

Wed — Nov 7

A Disney's World theme sparked the Homecoming celebration from November 5-9. Monday began with a spirit raising assembly announcing the week's activities. Students wearing black and gold outfits created a splash of school colors on campus. Tuesday was titled Frontierland, during which the Phoenix Jaycees performed a mock shoot-out at lunch. Bermuda shorts, colorful shirts and funny hats illustrated the typical tourist for Tourist Day on Wednesday. A Mainstreet atmosphere was on the agenda for Thursday. Kissing booths, pictures with Mickey and mouse ears were all part of that activity. The big day, Friday, had an array of Donald Duck, Mickey Mouse and Goofy characters scampering around the campus. Several teachers participated in the dress up day, too. Friday night, the Sabercats met with East High for the last game of the season. During half-time, Laura Lendrum and Mike Martin were crowned as Homecoming Queen and King. The senior float was awarded first prize, the sophomores' second, the junior's, third and the freshman's, fourth.

EUROPEAN TRIPS OFFERED

Several students from Saguaro participated in the European trips. One trip was sponsored by a minister in New Orleans. The requirements are one year of French or equivalent. In this program each student is placed with a French family for a month, thus attaining a flavor of French culture. Another European trip entailed travelling around Europe and touring the historical sites. Each trip will remain with the students who participated in it. As one student commented, "The experience of living with a French family is one I shall never forget."

New Principals, Policies Take Over

Communication, freshness and attitude were key words being used by the administration as the new school year began. Nowhere were these ideas more evident than in the new principal, Robert V. Hendricks, and the new assistant principal, Edward Biszantz, and William Johnson, who came to Saguardo during the summer months. Mr. Johnson took over as the Assistant Principal for Educational Services and Mr. Biszantz was the Assistant Principal for Student Services. One of these changes Mr. Biszantz explained best by saying, "Whenever you require change, they call in their people to make these changes. Mr. Johnson was called in, and he asked to be transferred here because 'I thought I could help Saguardo'."

5. The press box displays its new face, painted by Humanities students

One of the biggest plans they had was to communicate more openly with the students. This is one of the many problems administrators had trouble dealing with the past few years. That problem, said Mr. Johnson, would have to change. "I can't hide in my office and expect to communicate with people. Our doors are open," he said. He emphasized this point by saying that he would try to go out and mingle with the students.

The principals were also very excited about trying to change the attitude of the student body. Mr. Johnson echoed these feelings when he said, "There's been an image of Saguaro whatever that image is, and I think many people wanted that image changed."

One way Student Council tried to change attitudes was through the "Happy New Year" program which was instituted at the beginning of the semester. The program was meant to demonstrate the students' pride in Saguaro.

The most notable changes were in rules and policies. Possibly, the most controversial of these was the elimination of the designated smoking area. This was explained in no uncertain terms by Mr. Johnson who said, "The students do not have the right to smoke, and it's against the law and school policy."

Teen Problems Run Rampant

By way of illustrating the many problems that high school students have while growing up in our society, the Sentinel Staff has elected to present the following nationwide statistics:

The Census Bureau announced in 1976 that 468,000 babies were born out of wedlock. The majority of these babies were born to parents under 20 years of age. In fact, one out of every ten teenage girls between the ages of 15-19 becomes pregnant each year. Teenagers alone have been given credit for more than half of the illegitimate births in the nation.

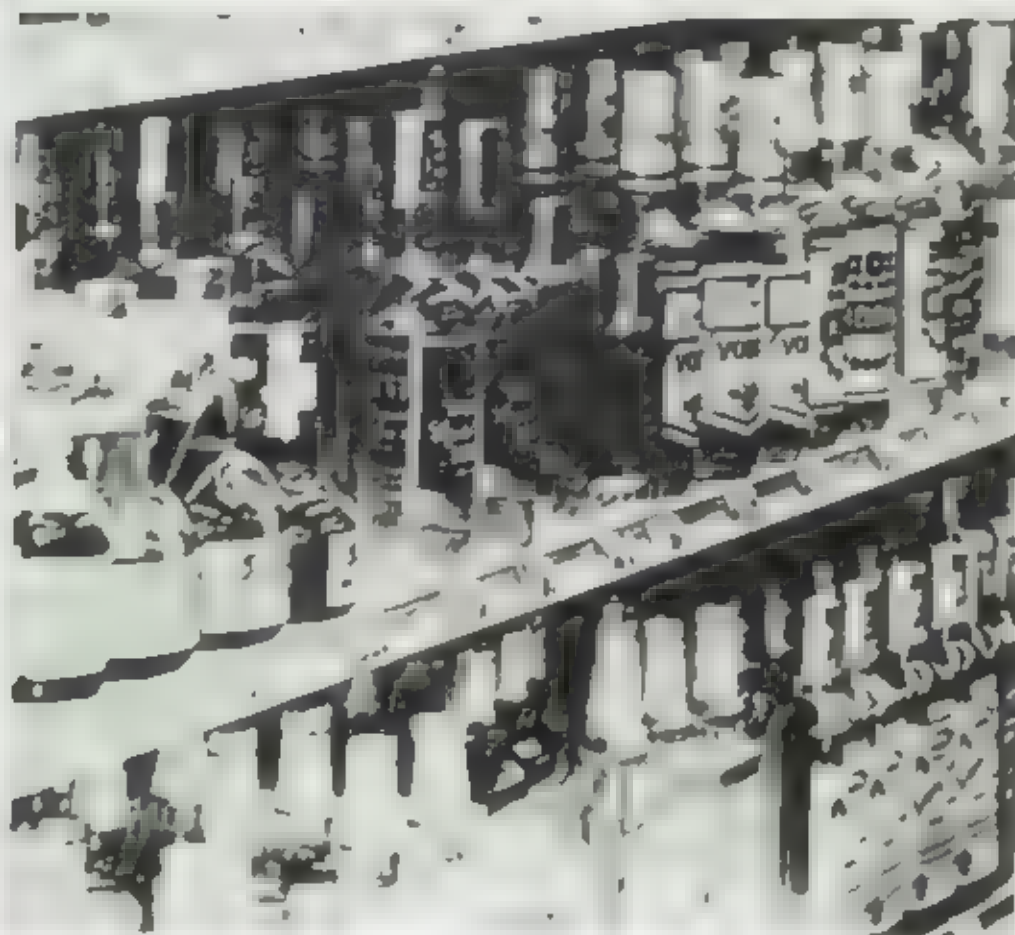

According to the Health, Education, and Welfare Department, between half a million to one million teenagers run away each year. The average age for runaways has dropped from 15 to 13 years of age. Of the 48 percent of runaways who have been interviewed, they list their main cause for running away as to get away from their parents. On the average, 56,000 are still missing after one year.

Along with the large number of runaways each year, suicide is also reaching epidemic proportions. A study published in Newsweek reported that nearly 6,000 people commit suicide each year, an average of 13 every day. The report also included that suicide is the third leading cause of death for people between the ages of 15-24, second only to car accidents and homicides. The most alarming fact is that suicide has tripled in the last 20 years.

Another means of escape for young adults has been alcohol. It has been speculated that drinking has led to the increase in vandalism in the Scottsdale Schools. In 1978, Saguaro alone, had a tab in excess of $11,000 for vandalism acts.

EDITORS' NOTES:

The Sentinel staff recognizes that the answers to this myriad of problems of this country, specifically those of its teenage population, are not easily found. We do not pretend to have any special knowledge of the answers thereof. However, we included this special segment in the student life section for the purposes of reference and reflection of these serious matters.

3. Pope John Paul II was greeted by more than 19,000 youths, at New York's Madison Square Garden, from over 200 Catholic and public high schools in New York and New Jersey.

Looking back on the shortly lost year of 1979, one finds it was neither a particularly good year for individual Americans nor for the country in general. Double-digit inflation, signs of an imminent recession, Three-Mile Island, the complicated question of nuclear energy and our dependence on foreign oil, the seizure of the American Embassy in Tehran, and a number of other assorted problems all contributed to making '79 ambiguous, if not dismal.

In March 1979, radioactive steam escaped from Pennsylvania's Three Mile Island power plant, creating the worst commercial nuclear accident in U.S. history. Since that time, the plant has become the symbol of America's most vexing and paradoxical energy problem: can we afford the potentially enormous but largely unknown risks that seem unavoidable in the production of nuclear energy?

For the first time in history, a Catholic pope visited the White House. Americans by the millions applauded John Paul II from the second he stepped off the plane at Boston's Logan Airport. At Yankee Stadium alone, he drew more than 75,000 worshippers. America was captivated by his gratitude and sly humor and air of authority. Even though more than half of the Catholics in this country approve of birth control, divorce, and marriage of priests, the pope made it clear that he does not hold those views.

Stories of 1979 . . . Dateli

In his first trip to the United States the pope visited Philadelphia, Chicago, Des Moines, and Washington D.C. traveling 11,500 miles in the process. He delivered 49 speeches, prayers, greetings and homilies, having written all the major ones himself.

November 4, 1979, was a day to remember, a day of infamy. A day which brought the seizure of the American Embassy in Tehran and the capture of 50 American staff members by zealots of the unstable Islamic regime of the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

Exhibiting no regard for the tradition of respecting foreign diplomatic counsels, the revolutionaries seized the American staff and this time still hold to the bargain for the return of the deposed shah of Iran. The shah had been admitted into the United States for medical treatment and subsequently left for Panama.

Despite the relentless negotiation attempts made by the State Department and despite almost universal condemnation of the take-over in the United Nations by countries worldwide, the students appear to be immovable in their demand for the deliverance of the shah in return for the release of the hostages.

The seizure raises many questions about the effectiveness of the United Nations, the status of diplomatic nations around the world in relation to revolutionary activities, the internal status of Iran — who is actually in control of the embassy affair, the students or the Ayatollah, lastly have we done all that is possible for the release and return of the hostages that are waiting, still yet, in the embassy.

The 1970's was a decade which brought the end of Vietnam, the resignation of a U.S. president, the easing of tension between the U.S. and U.S.S.R. and a number of other highly important events and new behavior patterns. The following section provides a look at a few of these events.

The bitter and brutal Vietnam War finally came to an end when all parties involved agreed to a ceasefire in 1973. Nevertheless, the U.S. left the Saigon Government with an arsenal worth more than $5 billion and sent millions more to hold off post-truce attacks by North Vietnam. The air base, Tan Son Nhut was under rocket and artillery fire, so Marine helicopters had to resort to landing on downtown buildings to lift up rear guard of 1,373 U.S. citizens.

It was a conclusion to a terribly destructive war which had, not only cost millions of lives, but had divided Americans as no other conflict had for more than 100 years.

On June 17, 1973, five intruders were caught bugging Democratic National Headquarters in what Nixon's press secretary, Ron Ziegler shrugged off as "a third-rate burglary." Soon they were linked to the C.I.A. and Nixon's re-election committee. Until John Dean, former White House lawyer, testified before the Senate most Americans were in a state of confusion. Dean's testimony, however, left no doubt about Nixon's complicity. Dean's detailed candor convinced a large majority of Americans that Richard Nixon was indeed linked to the Watergate affair, and from that day on, Nixon's days in the White House were numbered.

Evidence continued mounting, linking Nixon to Watergate with the discovery of the tapes. It became so overwhelming that Congress decided to impeach him. As a result, on August 9, 1974, Nixon became the first president ever to resign.

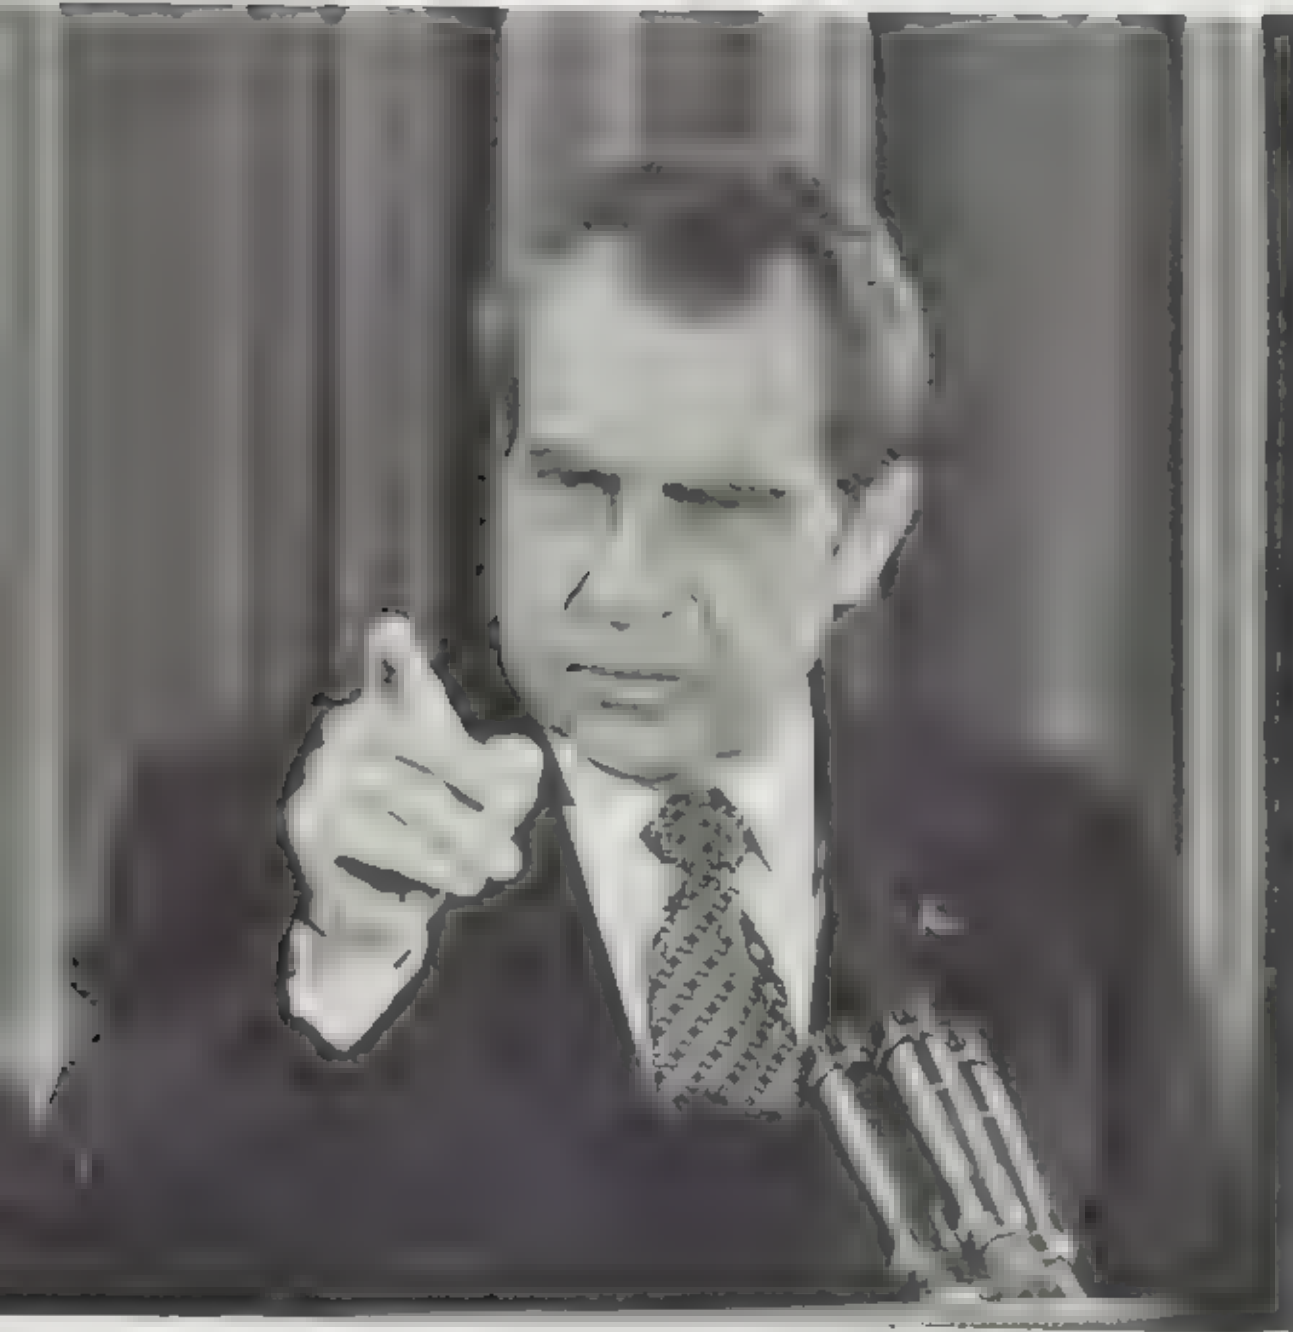

After Gerald Ford was appointed president, the country drew a sigh of relief. Americans knew little about his qualifications, but he possessed what was needed at the time, a reputation for honesty. However, most Americans were quite startled and upset when Ford pardoned Nixon. Although Nixon did escape a public accounting for his action, he did not escape public opinion or reaction.

Also in 1974, Patricia Hearst, daughter of the news magnate Randolph Hearst, was kidnapped and "brainwashed" in Berkeley, California, by the Symbionese Liberation Army. A year later the F.B.I. finally tracked down Miss Hearst and arrested her and three fellow fugitives of the S.L.A. She was sentenced to seven years imprisonment. After serving 22½ months, Miss Hearst was freed.

Senator Edward Kennedy D-Mass attended a $125 a plate fund raising dinner held at the Adams Hotel in Phoenix on Nov. 29, 1979. While there, Kennedy chided President Carter for what he termed a failure to offer leadership in the fight against organized crime. Kennedy was quoted as saying, "A constructive effective policy on law enforcement should have been forthcoming long ago from the White House."

Kennedy spoke out strongly during his speech for the Central Arizona Project the long awaited project to bring Colorado River water to central Arizona.

Kennedy also spoke out for an updated drug-enforcement program and a new federal criminal code.

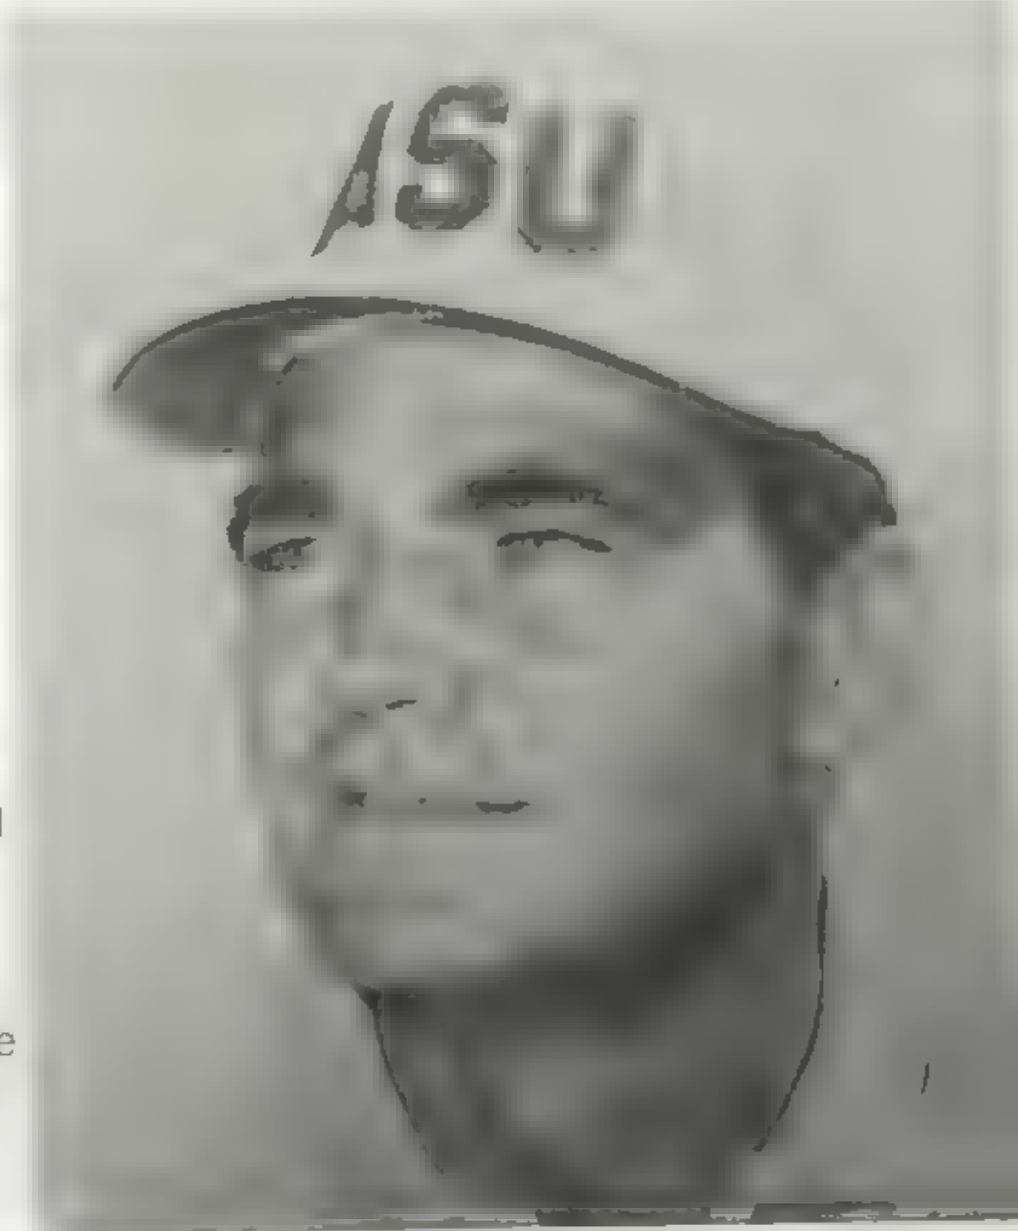

Commenting on the Iran crisis, he stated, "We shall never surrender to blackmail anywhere in the world. We have our differences on other issues, but on this issue in this difficult time we shall be united in doing what must be done."

Frank Kush. Did he play too tough? That is what some said when ex-Sun Devil player Kevin Rutledge filed a $1.1 million suit against Kush for assault.

Kush had been Arizona State's football coach since 1958. He had a record of 176 wins, 54 losses, and one tie. He also had a reputation for driving his players to their limit.

Rutledge filed the suit against Kush for allegedly punching him in the face after a bad punt made during the game with Washington in 1978. Kush denied the charges, yet after a great record and twenty-one years as head coach, Kush was fired. He announced his termination three hours before the 1979 game with Washington.

Kush was carried off the field after the game by his players while the crowd of 70,000 fans chanted "We want Kush!"

The "Me" Decade

Many have already named the 1970s the "Me" decade, and for good reason. People became more self-centered to the point of narcissism. "Who Am I?," "I Found Myself," and "Looking Out For Number One," were all popular expressions of the seventies. Those who didn't find themselves found "it;" they were "born again."

Meditation, analysis, and therapy helped people get in touch with themselves. Zen and religious sects did different things to different people.

The decade, however, was not limited to the mind. Physical self-improvement also played a large role.

Jogging became an integral part of life to many Americans and they experienced their first "natural high." The growth of jogging inspired many races, including the New York City 26-Mile Marathon, which attracted 11,553 runners.

Disco and aerobic dancing also gained popularity along with health spas and hot tubs. Weightlifting was also on the upswing.

The early seventies brought us such groups as the naturalists, the vegetarians, and the nudists. Many tried to get "back to nature" and then there were the streakers . . .

Fads

Pet rocks were big in the early years of the decade. They were totally self-supporting stones that didn't require attention. Later, a pet rock funeral parlor was started.

Slime was another biggie, along with Pop Rocks, a candy that "exploded" in the mouth.

Roller skating and skateboarding were very popular pastimes throughout the decade.

Frozen yogurt, Perrier water, and food processors were also created.

Fashion

Gold chains became very popular with both men and women in the seventies. Designer jeans and disco wear made it big as did pants suits.

We were introduced to the "Annie Hall" look and the string bikini, along with clogs and deckers for the feet.

Electronics

Thanks to the development of the integrated circuit, calculators and digital watches became common possessions of the decade.

CB radios made millions of dollars and inspired the trucking craze.

Home computers, video games, such as Pong, and electronic toys were also popular in the seventies.

Sports

In boxing, Muhammad Ali was the dominant figure throughout the decade. He was a three-time heavyweight champ, the only man ever to accomplish that.

Baseball brought us Hank Aaron, who, in '74, broke Babe Ruth's home run record of 714. Aaron finished his career with 755 homers in '76.

The Olympics gave us Mark Spitz and Bruce Jenner among others. Spitz earned seven gold medals and broke seven world swimming records in the '72 Olympic games. Jenner won the decathlon for America in the '76 games.

Soccer grew in popularity and many teams such as the New York Cosmos were formed. Pete became one of the richest athletes in the world.

In horse racing, Secretariat was the first in a quarter of a century to win the Triple Crown.

Evel Knievel was still big in the seventies. He tried, but failed, to jump the Snake River Canyon in a rocket contraption of his own design.

Golf brought us the Athlete of the Decade, Jack Nicklaus. He earned more than $3.5 million from tournaments alone.

In tennis, Renee Richards had a sex-change operation and fought to continue her career as a female tennis player.

Motion Pictures

Films about everything, with budgets like the national debt, filled the screen of the seventies.

"Star Wars," the all-time top money-making film, led the way for numerous science-fiction films. It showed what could be achieved on film.

Originals and sequels to "The Godfather," "Rocky," "Jaws," and "The Exorcist" pervaded the decade.

Some films that depicted the seventies included: "An Unmarried Woman," "Manhattan," and "Kramer vs. Kramer."

Movies spoke out against Vietnam, nuclear power, television, and our judicial system in "Coming Home," "The China Syndrome," "Network," and "The Onion Field," respectively.

Television

"Roots," the highest rated show of all time, gave the seventies the concept of the mini-series.

"All in the Family" became an institution. It dealt with controversial subjects and made fun of every kind of person.

The liberation of television could be seen every weekend on "Saturday Night Live." It has gone where no show has gone before.

News magazines like "60 Minutes" showed hope for the country's intelligence in its continued high ratings; it tends to counter-balance "Laverne and Shirley."

"The Muppet Show" became one of the most widely seen shows in the world and made Miss Piggy a household name.

Favorite People

The seventies were far from short on personalities. Our answers to Marilyn Monroe, Fred Astaire, and Twiggy were Farrah Fawcett, John Travolta, and Cheryl Tiegs.

Farrah Fawcett was the pinup girl of the decade. Seven million of her posters are hanging throughout the world.

Steve Martin became the hottest thing in comedy, and Dolly Parton the same in country and western.

King Tut and Mikhail Baryshnikov were both welcomed to the country with open arms.

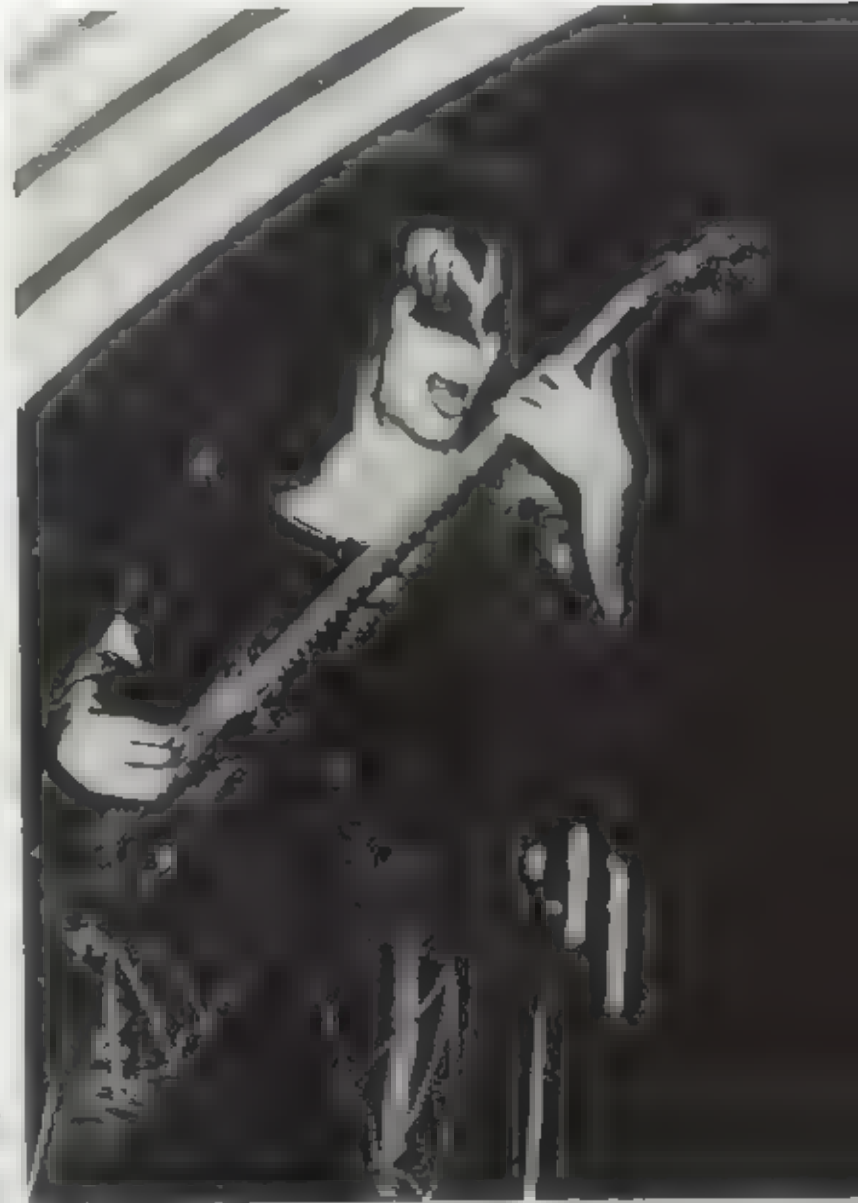

Burt Reynolds, probably the top male sex symbol of the decade, posed nude in a Cosmopolitan centerfold.

And then there was Billy Carter . . .

Musical Artists Entertain Students

Concerts abounded in the years of the 1970's. As more students became interested in attending concerts, the prices rose and the facilities expanded. Compton Terrace, the newest facility in the Valley, opened with such groups as Jerry Riopelle and Kenny Rogers. Other top facilities included the Veterans' Memorial Coliseum, ASU Activity Center, Celebrity Theatre, and Gammage Auditorium. Prices ranged from $6 to $15. Perhaps the largest selling concert of the decade was the Fleetwood Mac concert held at the University of Arizona as a benefit for the American Heart Association.

Students Provide Skeleton of Extrav

Ms. Rose Nack and her Speech/Communications and Advanced Speech classes once again put on a glorious production of the Extravaganza. The Extrav. '80, which was performed on April 25 and 26, was kicked off by a Mass Meeting held on February 11. This huge affair led into the announcement of the selected acts on March 15 at the auditions. The production was organized and led by the Extravaganza Board chairmen, and P.R. persons. Ron Whitney, a professional dancer, worked as a choreographer while Mr. Young, the Saguaro drama instructor, and Mike Martin, stage manager, ran the technical ends.

Under the direction of Mr. John Young, Saguaro's Performing Arts Center presented the play, "Barefoot In The Park," by Neil Simon

It was a story of a newlywed couple during their first weeks of marriage. Paul Bratter, played by Ron Kanwischer, was a stuffy New York lawyer and his wife Corie, played by Annette Hill, was a free-spirited young wife. It told of the different expectations that each of the partners had of the other one

Along with the Bratter's problems, Corie's mother, Mrs. Ethel Banks, played by Laura Smith, became involved with a questionable man, Victor Valesco, played by Jack Malek. The play ended when Paul Bratter walks barefoot through Central Park, after he and Corie had an argument

- 1 Victor Valesco (Jack Malek) prepares Hors d'oeuvres for everyone. By the expression on Paul Bratter's face the appetizers don't seem to go over very well with everyone
- 2 The telephone man (Mike Martin) gasps for air after walking up six flights of stairs to install the Bratter's telephone
3. While the Bratters are waiting for their furniture to arrive, Corie tries to attract Paul's attention away from his brief case by wearing a black negligee
4. Corie Bratter (Annette Hill) and Paul Bratter (Ron Kanwischer) have their first argument

With the guidance of Ms. Beth Hakes, Dance and Voices of Saguaro presented several concerts throughout the year

The first dance concert featured all types of music. Among them, Earth Wind and Fire, Barbara Streisand and 2001 A Space Odyssey

Ms. Hakes commented that the dancers designed all of their own costumes and were responsible for the coordination of the lights during the show. The class spent between six and seven weeks putting the shows together

Voices of Saguaro was comprised of 34 students. The group performed music ranging from the Renaissance era through the 20th century. Also, sixteen members from the class, the Stellar Singers frequently performed for various activities throughout the valley. Each student had to audition before Ms. Hakes before being admitted in the class. Ms. Hakes commented that the student must show talent to be in her class

3 Andy Jaros, a student Advisory Board member, takes notes at one of the weekly meetings.

Every Tuesday night the Board of Trustees of the Scottsdale Unified School District met. The residing members were Donald A. Swanson, president; Richard Clark, clerk; Thomas Carey, Phillis Spenser, and Suzanne Doggett, members; Dr. William Randall, superintendent.

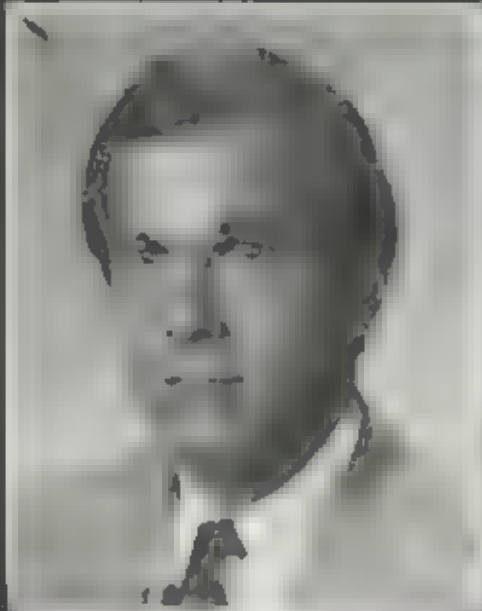

1979-80 was the last year for Dr. Randall, he was the superintendent for seven years of the Scottsdale School District. Dr. Randall felt that the district was in good shape and he accepted a job with EDGE consultants.

Many items were decided by the board from budget matters to overnight trips for classes.

At every meeting students from each high school were in attendance to voice their opinions. The Student Advisory Board members were Andy Jaros, Carrie Woerner and Abe Hughes.

PRINCIPALS & SECRETARIES

This year welcomed three new principals to Saguaro, Assistant Principals Edward Biszantz and William Johnson, and Principal Robert Hendricks. The trios' predecessors transferred to other jobs within the district. Robert Hendricks was not a stranger to Saguaro; he was Associate Principal of Educational Services from 1965 through 1972.

Student government worked exceptionally well on uplifting the student morale," said Mr. Hendricks. During the first week of school, Student Council, along with the administration, sponsored "Join Our Celebration" welcoming the new year and encouraging the student body to get involved.

As the saying goes, "Behind every great man, there is a greater woman," this holds true for the secretaries of Saguaro! Without the fine expertise of Pauline Ruff, Carol Vandenberg, and Dorothy Fackler, Saguaro would be lost.

Pauline Ruff's job included all of the budget work for Saguaro and all the paper work for Mr. Hendricks. She also was in charge of the substitutes and "a log of everything." Carol Vandenberg, secretary to Mr. Biszantz, did all the weekly calendars, typed up the daily announcements, and booked all the facilities of the school's. Although Mrs. Dorothy Fackler was new to Saguaro, she was quite up to date on everything.

1. Principal Robert Hendricks takes a pause from his tedious daily routine of running Saguaro

2. Edward Bisantz, Assistant Principal of Student Services, dances up from some of his many student

3. Secretary of Student Services, Carol Vandenberg, discusses with a parent about the Saguaro student

4. Saguaro's three principals, Edward Bisantz, William Johnson, and Robert Hendricks, not only spend all day working to make Saguaro its finest, they also support sporting events such as varsity football

5. Mrs. Pauline Ruff types one of the many letters that must be sent to the district office

6. Mrs. Dorothy Fackler shows her enthusiasm for her job to a photographer

7. Mr. William Johnson, Assistant Principal of Educational Services, signs a schedule change for a Saguaro student

Secretaries Organize School

Without the secretaries of Saguaro High School, the school would have "gone down the drain." No one person could have comprehended all the paper work that was involved with these few women.

The guidance secretaries not only scheduled appointments for the counseors they also took care of all incoming calls for the school.

The attendance secretaries handled all the calls from parents to excuse their children. These three ladies also made a monthly attendance report to the state

5. Emily Turner is in charge of all students' transcripts. One of her jobs is to send senior transcripts to colleges
6. Answering a student's question is Ms. Pam Baker

COUNSELORS

When in Doubt, See a Friendly Counselor

Problems! Problems! Problems! Who knows more how to help the groping student with those personal, home, academic or career questions than the eight men and women on Saguaro's professional counseling staff? Although each counselor is assigned to about 325 students, he or she always seems to have plenty of time and energy to hear each student's problems or suggestions.

- 1 Mr. Muench reads current student letters.
- 2 Ms. Sherness helps a student choose his college.
- 3 Ms. Whittling time to share a smile.
- 4 Mr. Brown enjoys a piece of a meal from his.

Although English was a required course for all high school students, when the teacher and the student worked together as a team, English was one of the most enjoyable subjects in a high school student's curriculum.

Along with the usual reading and writing, some English classes found time to attend presentations of Macbeth and Julius Caesar presented by The Old Globe Theatre and the Phoenix Little Theatre.

English teachers also encouraged students to enter writing contests, and to write and design on school publications. Public speaking knowledge was also gained through the speech classes.

A Look at Nature

Science has come a great distance since the "eye of newt and toe of frog" days of Macbeth. Much has been discovered in this vast field since the days of Macbeth that was not even imaginable during the medieval era. But not all of nature's wonders have yet been solved and the field of science is still vastly unexplored. Saguaro High School offers many courses in the field of science for its students who wish to take part in the challenges of nature's many wonders.

A Look Into The Past

There are many forms of history such as American History and World History; even Government is listed under this category. Not only is history the study of today but in some cases, it may be the study of what will happen tomorrow.

The history teachers were well informed about what was going on in the world as well as what went on in the past. By sharing their knowledge, the students could better understand the events of the past, present and future.

Robert Kastelic

Charles Long

1. The first step in the process of history is to identify the problem or question that is being studied.
2. The next step is to gather information from a variety of sources, including books, articles, and interviews.
3. The third step is to analyze the information and determine which sources are most reliable and relevant.
4. The fourth step is to synthesize the information and develop a thesis or conclusion.
5. The fifth step is to write a paper or report that presents the findings of the study.
6. The final step is to present the findings to a class or audience.

Math Teachers Help Students

Calculations, computers, tables and formulas were the important elements involved in the mathematics courses. Analysis, calculus, and computer programming were offered as the advanced courses. Algebra I and Basic Math gave first year students different views of problem solving. Other courses that involved better understanding and comprehension of arithmetics were geometry and computational skills.

6. Mrs. Figuerola teaches her students a second language.

Foreign Language Students Advance

Saguaro's Foreign Language Department offered beginning, intermediate, and advanced courses in three of the major foreign languages used throughout the world: German, French, and Spanish. Students were not only exposed to the language but also to their beliefs, culture, and some of their foods. Through foreign language studies, students enhanced their awareness towards foreign nations.

Industrial arts students learned not only how to work with a variety of tools and different materials, but also that team work is a necessity for an industrial arts course to run smoothly and safely

Expression

Students who attended courses in the Fine Arts Department this year were shown the importance of expressing their thoughts and feelings. In Dance and Theater, students learned that body language and expressions were an important part of these two specialized fields of Fine Arts. Arts and Crafts students learned how they could express themselves through the use of assorted materials and learned how these materials could be blended together to create a whole image.

The students at Saguaro were lucky enough to have 14 cafeteria staff workers for this past year. Each had a certain special task to perform in order to keep the cafeteria running smoothly. These tasks ranged from the preparation of the meals to the running of the snack bar.

MAINTENANCE

From Left to Right: Carlos Eunice, Ed Harrigan, Ray Harrison, Richard Mathews, Ray Pitts, Bob G. Christ, Roy Harrison, Fred Luke, Richard Rose

Saguaro maintenance staff were entirely responsible for maintaining the school grounds. These nine men were here before the school opened and remained until after the school closed each day insuring that everything was in proper order for the teachers and the students of Saguaro High School.

LIBRARIANS & NURSE

Bonnie Tendon, Library Assistant, Joan Hinshaw, Library Assistant, Jeannette Smith, Librarian, Carol Barclay, Librarian, Cande Whitlatch, Library Assistant, Louise Youngs, Library Assistant

During the course of the day the library staff was there making sure that the students had all the materials that he or she would need to complete an assignment or to just pass their spare time

Civitan Active in Surroundings

Civitan was an active organization that devoted much of its time to aiding the school and community. Besides selling Mickey Mouse ears during Homecoming Week, Civitan also sponsored a dance for the mentally retarded. During Christmas, they wrapped presents at the Colonnade Mall. Bake sales were also main fundraisers for the club. Its numerous activities helped make it one of the more familiar clubs on campus.

Sabercat Informs and Entertains Students

Over the summer, many of the Saguaro Sabercat members attended camps. Tom Johnston, and Howard Besserman attended newspaper camp at Stanford University. At that camp, Howard Besserman won the "honorable mention" awards for layout and editorial writing. Cindy Brooke, Mark Cain, Todd Fisher, Heather Rash, and Debbie Shell all attended a newspaper camp at Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff. Together, the Saguaro Sabercat staffers put a newspaper out every three weeks

Sabers Tussle for A League Title

The 1980 season for varsity Sabercats was an unpredictable one. In the pre-season ratings, Saguaro was named the No. 1 team. After losing the first three games, the team's ranking dropped. Because they were so highly rated, Coach Bob Keller said, "I think they had a bad start as far as their attitude goes. I don't think we've played to our potential. Whether or not we ever will is the question."

The Sabers answered this question with a win of 34-6 over the Tempe Buffaloes. Since the Cats only loss in their league was against Chaparral, they moved into a three way tie for first place in the A League.

After a years experience, Brian Evans was one of the most outstanding players on the team. On the defensive side, Scott Lambert and Darren Sanders stepped into the leadership roles.

JV Cats Rip Up Opponents

The JV football team had a very good season, winning seven of their games and tying one with two games left to play in the season. Coach Jay Phillips stated, "Actually, the defense has been the strong point of our game." The statistics backed the coaches statement as opposing teams were able to score 18 points against the Sabers, with all but two games being shut outs. Coach Phillips said some outstanding players were Dan Lambert, Steve Martin, and Dan Minton, but added that the whole team played well

On fresh football the offensive plan was greatly accentuated. Defensively the team covered the field well. Their first year was a year of preparation and training to develop their attitudes and skills. Coach Bill Dougall of the "A" team said the players had as good an attitude as he'd seen in four years. Coach John Young mentioned that the "B" team was definite varsity material and had a fine attitude. Key "A" players were Don Jacober and Rob Kaspien. Promising "B" players were John Preston, Dave Hartwell and Todd Telenick. All in all, men showed potential for the future

Runners Take Off

The three and four year cross country veterans have run a good year according to Coach Ken Hawk. It took more than just working over the summer but years to build their large hearts and great lung capacity they've attained. Coach Hawk believed in hard work and long training. He said, "If you're born to be a good runner and you work hard, you can be a great runner." Scoring high at the meets were the boys' team top runners Tim Keller and Morgan Dempsey. As a whole, they've led the Scottsdale District

The girls' varsity has ended their second year at Saguaro with a hard-fought season adding to the problems of the young team. Hard work and an excellent attitude helped them improve. Among the outstanding members were Robin Carpentier and Edie Eiker (not pictured).

Girls' Volleyball Action Packed

The varsity girls' volleyball team had a lot to be proud of in their season. Their total record was impressive with 13 wins and 4 losses. They came in first in the A League Central Division and won the Phoenix Invitational Tournament, but went on to lose in the semi-finals against Kofa in the divisionals. Coach Gayle Wilborn said she was very happy with the team's performance. # Sabercats Swim on to State

The girls' swim team had a long demanding road to qualify for the state meet. The medley relay team, Andrea Simons, Kim Swanson, Lynn Womowski and Deana Dawson placed second in their competition. This was the highest place won by the Sabers out of the nine events in which they participated. The other members of the team who qualified to swim at the state level were Carol Andrews, Anne Friend and Lois Richter. The Sabercats placed fourth in the state

Swimming coach, Jay Kules, and diving coach Jerry Bicknell led the girls through a 4-2 season. Five school records were broken.

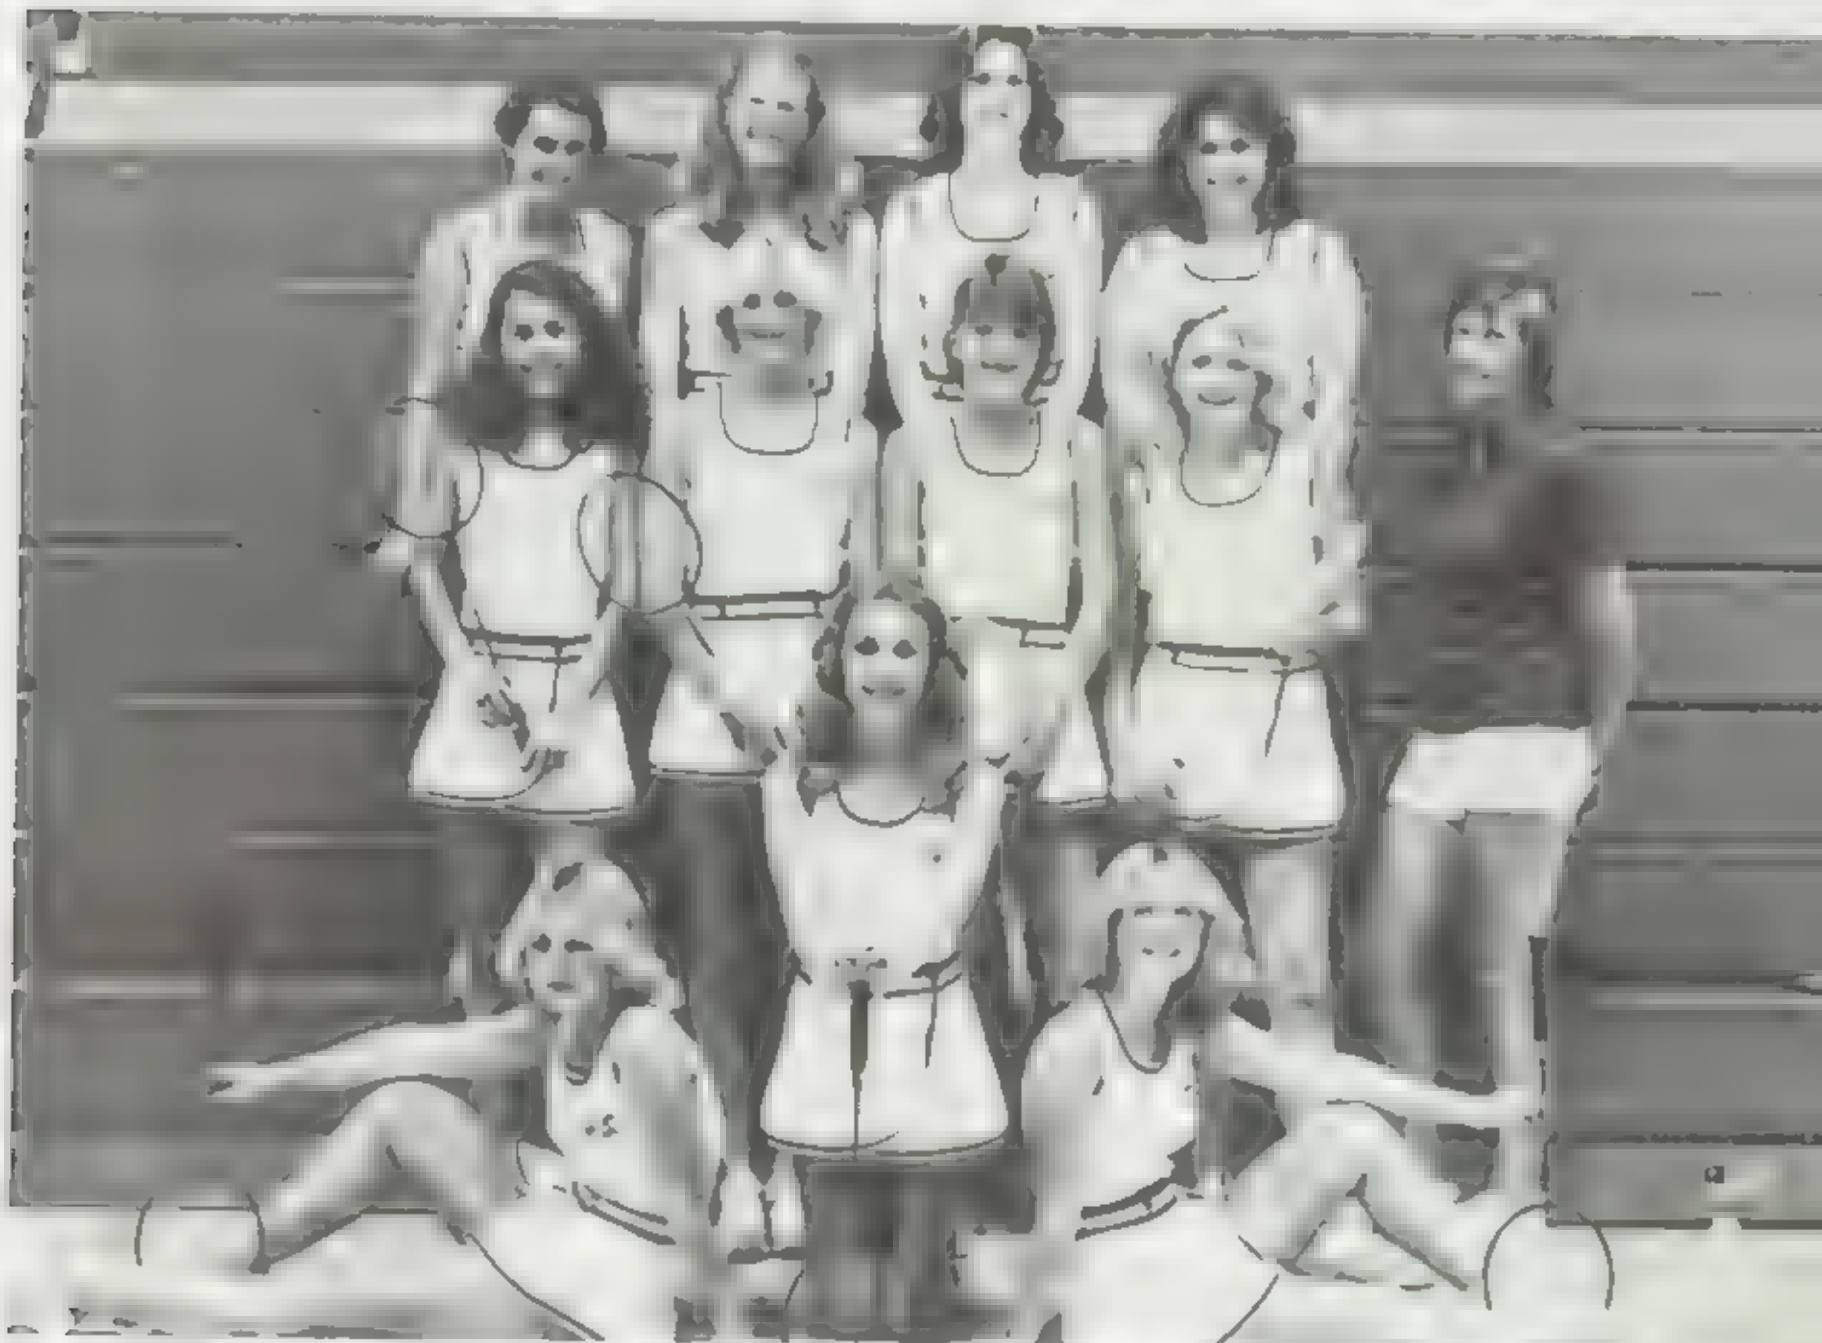

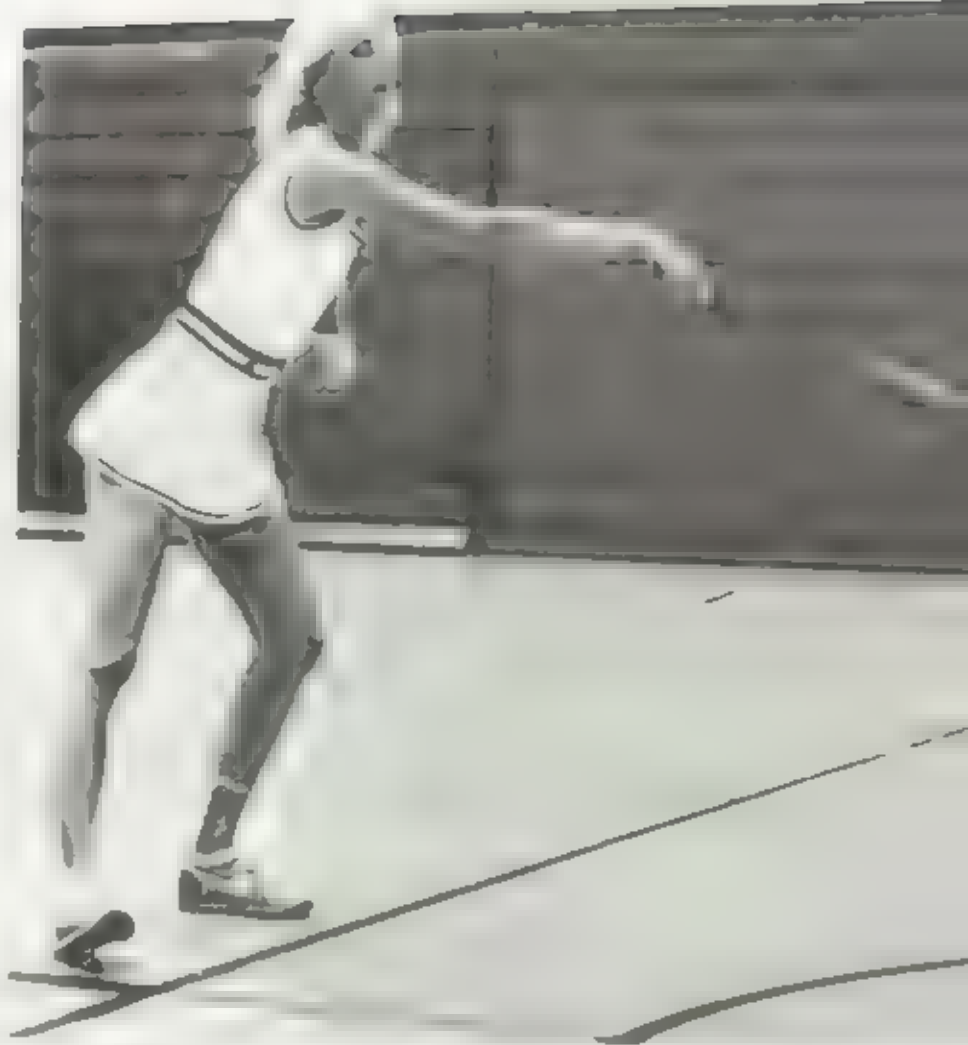

1. Sabercat pushes herself to the finish
2. The team captains are Andrea Simons, Kim Swanson, and Christa Dean
3. Anne Friend executes a dive for the judges

Girls Strive to Improve Badminton Skills

In the '79 season, badminton had a trying time with a record of 2-10. Mrs. Lynette Gray said the team had improved greatly with Kristi Beucier and Laurie Florke-wicz excelling in doubles. Leslie Chadwick was the number one player in singles for most of the year

7. Dave Munley takes a long shot to make the final basket of the quarter.
8. Sophomore Steve Palmer, moved from the JV team to varsity after the season's start.

Sure Shot Sabercats

Saguaro's varsity basketball team started off to a great season. Coach Jerry Smith was very enthusiastic about the Cats and said, "We have a great team and hope to make it to the playoffs."

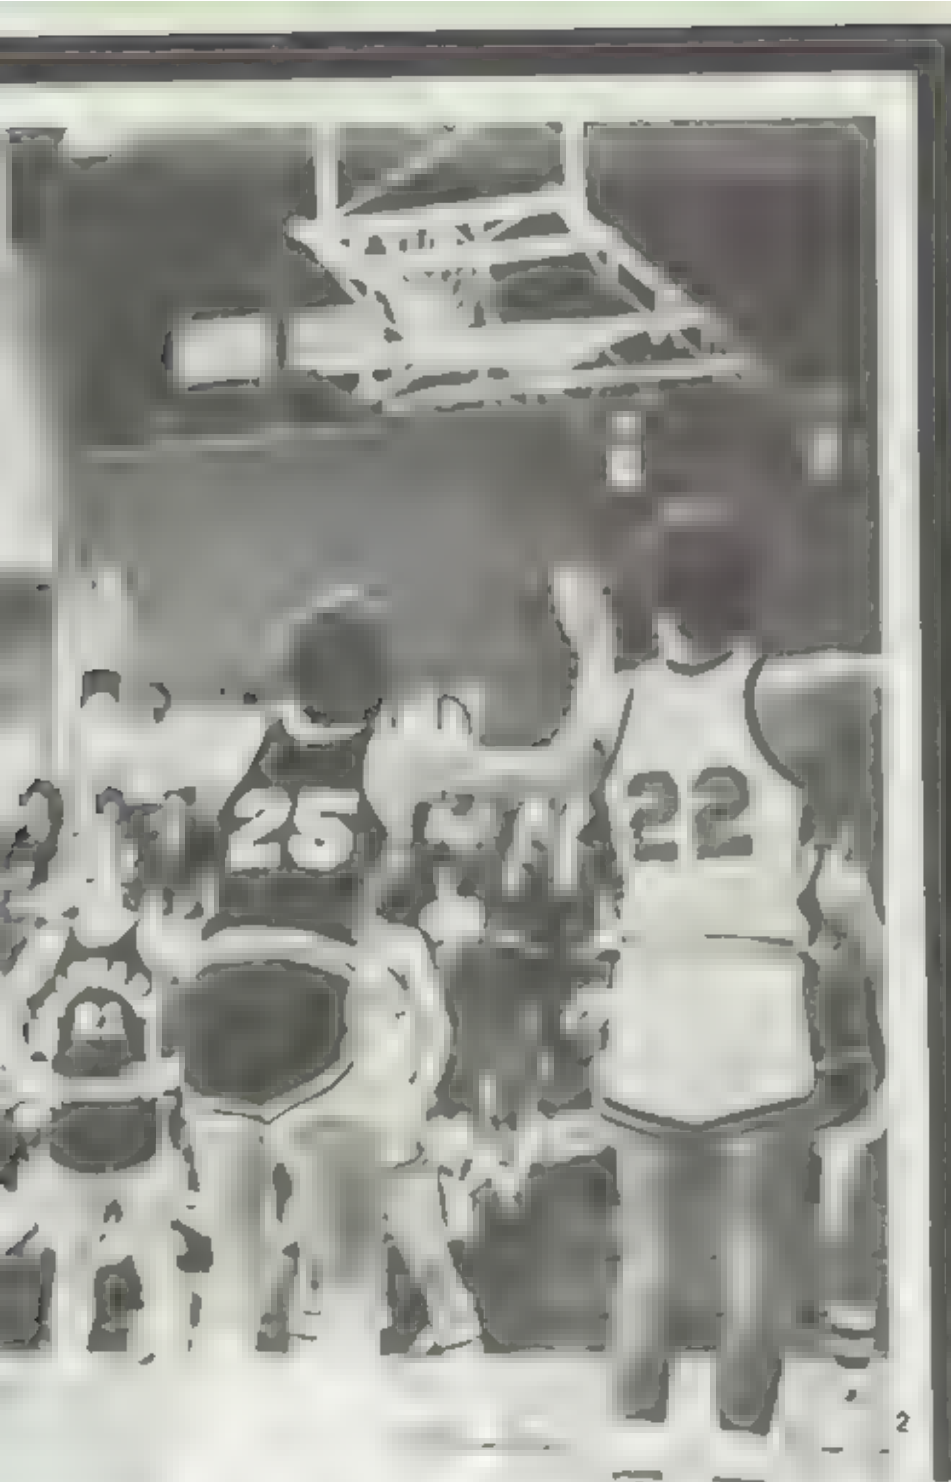

The Sabers played high scoring games, increasing the interest of their fans. Each member of the team held different responsibilities and fulfilled them. "We are working hard not to have one or two outstanding players. We are working to have an outstanding team."

At the beginning of the season, the high scoring players were Dale Hellestrae, John Hink and Dave Muniey. Juniors Tim Muniey, Paul Duff and sophomore Steve Palmer gained the experience needed to step into leadership roles next year.

Drills Improve JV Performance

This year's JV basketball team, although large, had high potential. Coach Mike Cady predicted the team would have a winning season and break 500 points. Potentially they can be very strong, if they can outgrow their losing habit as freshmen. Coach Cady added. Sophomore Steve Palmer at mid-season was moved up to Varsity basketball. Outstanding players were Scott Hammargren, Mark Casey, Ted Norby, and Steve Charlton. As a whole, the team performed well and kept good attitudes.

1. Ted Norby dodges a Mountain View block and aims for a basket.

2. Soaring through the air is Chet Vasquez as he looks for an opening.

3. Starter Mark Casey makes another two points for the Sabercats.

Basketball Court Fears Freshman

Coach Jerry Nunez said there was an abundance of talent on the A and B freshmen teams this year. The teams worked well together with all the players encouraging each other. Coach Nunez said the team was well-balanced, but the outstanding players were Loren Olsen, Tony Mason and Uvonte Reed.

Girls Jar Opponents

Coach Dennis Price and his girls' basketball team have been working hard. Coach Price said he thought that this was one of his better teams. They should do pretty well even though the Saguaro girls' varsity basketball team has had the best record in the city since girls' basketball began. As Coach Price said, "No reason this shouldn't be an even better." Some of the better players in Coach Price's opinion were Dree Wilkerson, Dawn Bowes, Michelle Estell. They are all returning starters from last year. Coach Ann Brady coached the JV team. Coach Mike Cady coached the freshman team.

Sabers Contend With Opponents

Participating in varsity wrestling meant total dedication to obtain a successful season, and the '79 team had performed to the best of their abilities. Training involved long hours of rigorous exercises to teach their bodies to move like wrestlers. Coach Tilo Tutama added, "The team does well considering the injuries." Greg Shaurette and Steve Curtis both were out of competition this year. Although the team lost these top members, on the whole, they reached high standards. Very outstanding wrestlers were Frank Bartolomeo, Tom Ciccone and Scott Collins. The outcome of the team's record showed hard working, well developed wrestlers.

1. Tom Ciccone, a star wrestler, is ready for anything

Wrestlers Improve

This was only Coach Tilor Tuitama's second year at Saguaro and so far he has enjoyed his coaching assignment. He said the JV team members encouraged each other and the team has made a vast improvement. The wrestlers that did lose gave a good fight and lost by only slight margins. As for the individual aspect of wrestling Coach Tuitama said, "Individually you push the kids." He said some of the more outstanding wrestlers were Pat Bertram, Jeff Miller and Brad Boyce.

Sabers Castoff Season

All of the girl's gymnastics team, last year's state champions, returned, bolstered by talented new members. At the beginning of the season Coach Norm Withern said, "Vicki Brooks, Dina Fulton, Anne Friend and Katie Harris are the strongest portion of the team. In the past two years, the Sabers have lost only one meet. Both Coaches Norm Withern and Jerry Bicknell felt confident that the team had the potential to recapture the state title."

Golf Swings Into Action

The 1980 golf team was hoping for fourth place in the state finals. Mr. Jack Forsythe said he was very confident of the team's ability. In the early part of the season the scores were 4 to 5 over par. In Mr. Forsythe's opinion some of the better players were John Hink, Jeff Weinand, Jeff Merdich, and Dave Elton

Although the 1979 JV and varsity girls' tennis team had always been known for their tough competition, it had not corrupted their enthusiastic attitudes. According to Coach Sally Dorsey the girls were co-operative and gave her no problems. Coach Dorsey said, "We've just had a darn good time." Especially noted for their abilities were southwesternly and nationally ranked Roberta Hing, Allyson Ingram, Holly Kessler, Jana Tull, and Ellen Palmer. Over-all the team showed depth and good performance.

The Freshmen boys' tennis team swept the courts with a 13-0 season. This brought the team's nine year cumulative record to 112-1.

In order to be No. 1 at Saguaro, Cort Alcott had to beat his teammate Matt Lofdahl, No. 1 in the Southwest 16-year-olds. Alcott, Lofdahl and others made up, according to Coach Jerry Bicknell, "an excellent team and an excellent season."

The girls' team had a smashing season with a record 12-1. The loss to Marcos do Niza was a disappointment to the Sabers. Coach Lisa Gordon said, "It was our first game. Marcos de Niza had been practicing for a month and we started the week before the match." Sally Baily, Tiffany Lendrum and Susan McCrary battled for the No. 1 position keeping the inter-team competition rolling.

As in all varsity sports varsity softball this year is in its most advanced stage. The team members had gained experience and needed skills. "They are learning to be ball players instead of playing ball," Coach Jack Howell said. Outstanding players were Sherry Messer, Dawn Bowes, Michele Estell, and Paige McDowell.

JV softball, however, had reached a rebuilding year. Many valuable players were lost to infirmities, such as Laura Cope. "Injuries and illness have been our Waterloo," Coach Robert Kastelic replied. Lisa Wigodsky, Karmen Harris, Adrian Decker contributed greatly to the team.

Baseball Slides Into 14th Season

Coach Ed Littleton had great expectations for the 1980 varsity baseball team. Coach Littleton said, "The team's attitude and the way they approach the game is exceptional and if this keeps up we should have an excellent season." There was a lot of good talent on the field. Jim Pettibone and Bob Fingers were outstanding pitchers according to Coach Littleton. The Sabercats had a good defense and strong hitters with members Kevin Smith, John Joseph, George Adams, Ron Noels, Anthony Piazza, and Brian Evans. Coach Littleton added, "We have a much better team and should go farther than last year's team."

JV, Frosh Gain Agility

For the 1980 JV baseball team, learning and improving to attain form, agility and overall perfection were the main goals. Coach Elden Cozort said, "Our major emphasis was not to win but to expand skill-wise."

Like most freshmen sports, the 1980 baseball team was a year of preparation, building attitudes and the basics of the game itself. Outstanding players were Jeff Miller, Jim Stransky and Brandon Hawkins. Coach Jerry Nunez said, "The hard part is to make them believe in themselves as a winning team and as confident, talented individuals."

Tracksters Sprint Into 1980 Season

According to Coach Bill Dougall the 1980 track team was strong in the distance events and somewhat weaker in the sprints and field events. However Coach Dougall said "Being a born pessimist, I think we'll do alright." He also stated that the team was working hard in getting ready for the 1980 season. In Coach Dougall's opinion some of the better players were Tim Keller in the mile, Morgan Dempsey in the two mile, Brent Abney in the long jump and Frank Sayne in the pole vault.

"We have a small team but all the swimmers are quality swimmers" said Coach Jay Kules. At the beginning of the season, Coach Kules thought that the team should do well in the divisionals and in the state meet. The three top swimmers returning from last year, Jim Griffin, Greg Kornrumpf and Will Daly, participated and took fifth place in the 1979 state meet. The diving team took a giant leap forward from last years team and hoped to make the divisionals

Seniors Display Their Talents

The artistic talents of Robert Scott enabled him to become the designer of the cover for the 1980 Sentinel. Robert started painting a little less than a year ago, and his abilities have led him to create pastels, acrylics, oil, and pencil sketches. Robert has intentions of becoming a professional artist, but first plans to work as a commercial illustrator until he further develops his skills. He derives much satisfaction from his work and states that he likes to see a flat piece of paper turn into a three-dimensional object, and with his talent he can do it.

Being a girl on the Scottsdale Youth Patrol had no distinct benefit or detriment, according to Holly Horan, a two-year veteran. Holly's interest in wanting to know more about how the police department functioned, plus the fact that she had an older sister in police work, brought her to join the patrol. Though she had an early fright in directing traffic, she became very confident in her work. She admits that she was once very shy, but the very nature of her job has helped her to leave that behind.

Youth Patrol

ambition to someday serve in law enforcement and a desire to "understand people and be able to communicate with them," has so far, elevated Doug Drenn to the position of lieutenant with the Scottsdale Youth Patrol. Doug, one of only two lieutenants on his patrol, has spent two and a half years working and training with the local police. He has also served during community functions such as school carnivals and the Granada del Sol. Doug takes his work seriously and enjoys it. His future plans call for a university degree and a career as a police officer.

State Rep. Elected

Joanne Corpstein, voted outstanding girl of the month in October, was elected state Teen-Age Republican Chairman of Arizona. She oversaw all of the high school TAR clubs in the state and was responsible for increasing membership, organizing conventions, and putting together workshops. Joanne has worked her way up in TARS, first starting out as a student representative, then as the secretary, and later as president.

Being state chairman has a lot of obligations," Joanne commented, "one is having to serve on the Trunk and Tusk Committee, which is a major fund raising event for the Republican party of Maricopa County."

Kit Twirls for SHS

Kit McBiles, an active girl who participated in the Saguaro marching band was the head baton twirler for the school. She started twirling at age ten and has been involved in the Parada Del Sol event since fourth grade. Being a baton twirler was hard work, and for Kit, it involved up to three hours of intense practicing. She hopes that a scholarship will be awarded to her for her talents and later would like to become an official judge for competitions. Her career in baton twirling has led her to receive over 175 trophies, ribbons, and plaques. Last March she became first runner up in the Regional competition, and last April, Miss Major-ette.

One must learn
By doing the thing; for though you think you know it
you have no certainty until you try.

Sophocles

No one realizes how true this adage really is until they have experienced it — the ultimate moment of truth when the task is complete and the concept becomes just a memory.

This yearbook was not only an experience in learning to write copy and crop pictures, but a total effort by all those involved. The frustrations, the letdowns, the highs could not have been anticipated in the beginning, but can be relished in the outcome.

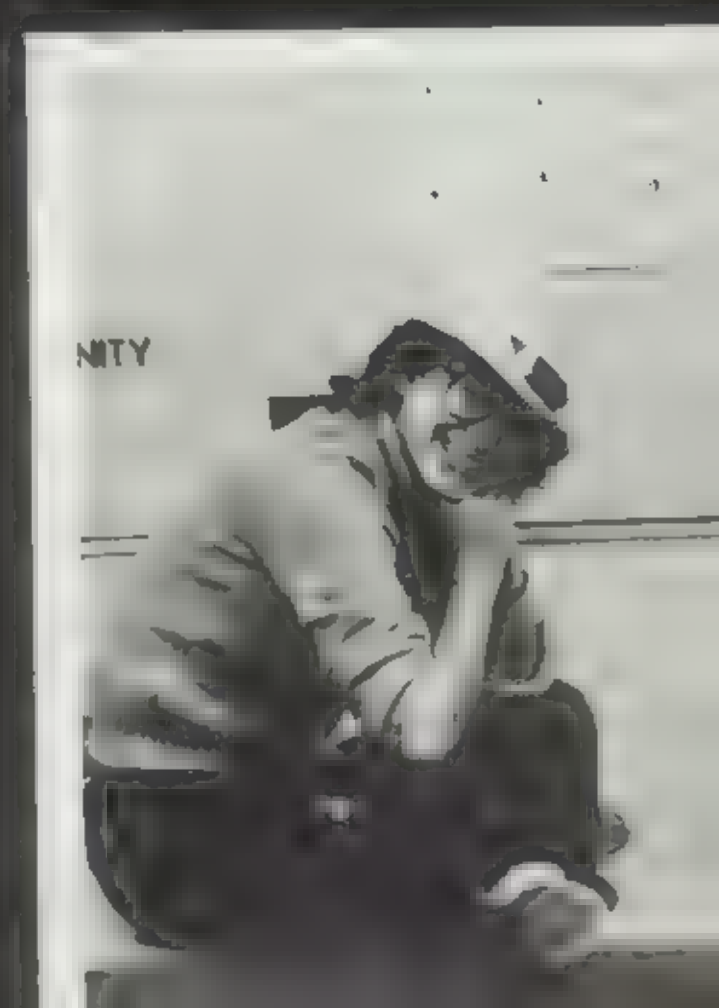

We, as the staff, worked as a unit, a group, a team to combine our ideas and concepts into a unified book. In presenting the material, a decision was made to "get back to the basics" of reporting — calling the events as we saw them. The theme of the West was chosen after long deliberation because we felt it embodied the free western spirit in all of us.

We have attempted to put aside our personal prejudices in order to represent the entire student body in a fair manner. We hope we have succeeded.

One most important item that can't be overlooked is the effort of the staffers — Thank you. Through all our ups and downs, yelling and screaming, and McDonald's hamburgers, we somehow seemed to have pulled it all together. Thank you to Miss Dorosh and to John Stevens for all your extra effort and patience, and also thank you to faculty members, administrators, parents, and friends who encouraged us and put up with us through many a nerve-wracking deadline.

With sincere pleasure I sign off only to say that — you have no certainty until you try — and we tried it. That I am certain.

This Is It

As I look back on my four years at Saguaro, I feel my best and most fun years were as the editor of the Sentinel. I was honored with this title for two years. It was the first time in the history of Saguaro that a person was the editor for two consecutive years.

But I hardly did it alone. I want to thank all of my staff. They did, alone, almost all of the work. We were on time and were able to put a lot of creative special effects into this Sentinel through the ideas of the staffers. Through the supervision and helpful hands of the section editors, all assignments were completed smoothly, with little difficulty. Although it was my job as an editor to oversee and plan the book, the bulk of the work always fell on my staff. They all did a terrific job and deserve praise in their accomplishments.

I would especially like to thank my advisor and friend, Miss Yvonne Dorosh, for all the times she was patient with my impatience. She is so attentive and helpful that it is hard to think of her as a teacher because she is such a good friend. Also, John Stevens, of Taylor Publishing Company, for his help, understanding, and wonderful attitude, deserves many thanks.

My deepest gratitude goes to all the other people who put up with me in my times of triumph and of defeat. My teachers, my mother and father, Dwayne Nemeth and all of my friends, who allowed me to do such crazy things as set up pictures at the last minute, deserve a lot of appreciation for their support and understanding. To all the above mentioned people, THANKS A LOT!

I had fun, and I hope you like this 1980 Sentinel because we tried to take the time and planning to make it the very best book we could.

Am Lu, dear,

It's been great having you in class, getting to know you and knowing you'll do great in your future. Best of luck and wishes for everything you want. Always -

VIA DE AMOR

Linda,
So we've finally made it
thru Art III! Boring!!! You may have heard this many times before but this is how I feel. You have made and a lot of fun and I doubt if I would have continued 2nd semester if you weren't there. I appreciate all your mental help with my problems and all your expertise in the art field! Remember: call me if you'd like to have a "midnight rendevous" 991-0646! HA! So we can ~~travel~~ "cruise down the motorway, 80 miles an hour with the throdde down & drive faster than you want me too!"

P.S. Call if you'd like to do something or if you'd just like to talk. I feel better.

Have a great summer
Guv Ya,
Ingrid

Linda,
I really glad to know you better.
I hope you in art
great having you in art
American this. I hope Randy stays all summer and you two summer a terrific Kathy

you're not sure if you like it or not but you really like it and you
like it and you like it.
you just love it.
you love it.

Linda,

It was nice

Knowing this year because without you I wouldn't have made the paper.
Have Fun graduating!

Signed,

Eric Russell
the other "star"

Linda, well kid its been fun!
well have to do it again sometime.
well art was real fun and surprised me that long as well handle us that long as well maybe will see ya in S. school or sometime this summer.
at the lake or river. take care and Best wishes to you and Pamela Bye: Crystal Cal
Mini Dago.

Lynnda,
I'm glad I
got to know
you. Hope you have fun outta
high school and Good Luck
Love,
Debbie
McKee

Lynnda Dearest Lynnda, It's been great knowing you this year.
Wishing you the best of everything in the years ahead. Hope you have a good marriage. Make sure your hubby is good
to you.
M. Lieberman

Lynnda,
I'm really glad
we met this year and became good friends.
You're a real success!
I hope you have a real nice summer. Randy will be back soon, so when he leaves don't miss him as you did this year. (But I know you miss him more!)
I hope I'll see you around next year. Love ya,
Heather

Lynnda - good I'm glad you love
I'm that you to you
happy to know you
got to know you in art. Also, glad
we worked together
on the sculpture most
was the most thing
meaningful in crafts
we did in I wish
all you the best for the future. Keep on singing. Love,
Mia Bloom

Lynnda,
I hope you had a really good year! I'm so in love with Heather, but it's the same way everytime. I like the girl but they don't all like me, too bad.
Maybe still ask me the S.O.B. party on Friday. I hope you and Randy have fun this summer. Much Love,
M. B.

Lynda,
It's been fun this year
and I hope you have
a great summer,
And I hope you have
fun c/n college next year, if you're going)! If you're not going party hardy
all year!
